Hong Kong Computer Society Elected New Council Members
*Keep Focus on Professional Development & Young Talent Cultivation and Accelerate HKCS' Development around the 5 Core Values

May 14, 2014 • Hong Kong – New Council members of Hong Kong Computer Society (HKCS), the largest Information and Communication Technology (ICT) professional body in Hong Kong, have been elected in the Annual General Meeting on 14 May 2014. To unveil a new phase of HKCS's development, the HKCS Council will continue to put effort to accelerate HKCS's development around the five Core Values including Professional Development, Career Advancement, Job Assistance, Industry Collaboration and Community Engagement. HKCS will continue to striving for uplifting professional standards of local ICT practitioners, so as to strengthening international competitiveness of Hong Kong's ICT industry and hence making valued contribution to a sustainable development of Hong Kong's economy as well as to encouraging more young people to take ICT related subjects in tertiary institutions.

Mr. Michael Leung, President of HKCS, said, "on behalf of HKCS, I must recognize the valuable contribution of the Council members, the SIGs and the various Committees, the CIO Board, the Youth Club and the newly founded Ladies Club of previous year and welcome new members, as part of the strong professional team, to jointly advance the development of Hong Kong's ICT industry. HKCS has always been promoting the professional standards of the industry. This year, we will continue to put our effort in growing HKCS, in terms of professional standing and membership size, to provide HKCS a broader representation of and a bigger mandate for the ICT community, that in turn can put us in a stronger position to influence and promote ICT industry developments."

Mr. Leung furthered, "to ride on the Government's strongest ever push towards developing ICT education, professional qualification and recognition, most notably the establishment of the Innovation and Technology Bureau and a Unified ICT Professional Recognition Framework. The generous provision of funding for technology start-ups is but one of the opportunities we as an industry must capitalize on. In supporting the Government's initiatives, we will strive to enhance HKCS's position and reputation as the leading ICT professional body in Hong Kong and in the Asia Pacific region."

About Hong Kong Computer Society

The Hong Kong Computer Society (HKCS) is a non-profit professional organization established in 1970, which strives to improve and develop Hong Kong's ICT industry. Being the most well-established and the largest professional association in Hong Kong, HKCS is dedicated to promote the highest professional standards for the industry.
